CHECK ON A TEXT!-They had an exellent practice in the old Dutch churches, in New York, to prevent the preacher from indulging in long sermons. An hour-glass was placed at the right hand of the minister, and it was the clerk's duty, when the last grains of sand had run out, to remind him that the time to end the sermon had come by three rape of his cane. This was better than the plan of side-doors, adopted by our Puritan fathers, through which they stole out and escaped when they could endure

As yet there have not been soldiers stationed on that line in sufficient strength to ward off the Indians and escort the mails. We hope the Colonel Commanding the District will at once, instanter, order escorts from Bridger and elsewhere to accom-pany the mails and give those devils a foretime of what they'll have hereafter.

It has been ten days now since we have had a mail, except that of yesterder. It may be a month more until we shall, unless im-mediate and most effective effort is diregted to the route from Bridger to North Platte. For several days previous to the below date. Mr. Stewart was sur rounded at Sulphur Springs, afraid to venture out with the mails. They are therefor piled up there, as the eastern mails are piled up at the North Platte Ferry. Sulphur Springs is an important point on the Line, which it is feared, is by this time destroyed. Unless 1,000 troops are stationed on that division, we will be without mails, trains, stock or immigration all this summer. The following is the dispatch received by Joe S. Roberson Esq., Agent of the Overland Stage Line, in this city, and by him laid before our District Commander, Colonel George, with a view to getting troops sent down the road.

It is calculated by the War Department that the loss of life among the Union soldiers in the war of the Rebel ion has been not less than 240,000. The rebels probably have lost about the same number. Jeff. Davis then should be indicted and hung half a million times for murder!

"DEACON" Bross, as the Colorado papers call the Lieut. Governor, said he would not only get a Ben Holladay coach to "sleep" in, on his return to Chicago, but a "Bowery" to hold family service! He was "taken" with things here-to hear him talk. Shrewd chaps those States men.

MODEST PROPOSAL .-- The N. Y. World Gold Hill. Of course the same theory would have applied to Lincoln had he not been removed by the assassin's hand, to Chief Justice Chase, and, in fine to the whole Union party. Is not this the carnival of effrontery? And who can fathom the impudence of Coperheadism.

HAD time and the facilities of observation afforded, we would have attempted an analysis of that sermon and several matters and things, on men and manners, facts and fancies, truths and theories, suggested at the Bowery last Sunday afternoon. But, there may be many a better opportunity bereafter. The writer was wonderfully disappointed in President Brigham Young, as a reputed reasoner and public speaker. He is neither, but rather weak in argument even for a "latter-day reformer." The half of his hearers looked as if they knew less of what their creed was, than that of Mahomed Alli ; but this makes them the better "Mormons"-that is to say, more useful.

We are most happy to chronicle the appreciation of the citizens of Stockton, Cal., of the services of our worthy and respected General Connor, which they have shown by their subscription for the purchase of a valuable sword and belt for presentation to him. There is no officer in the United States service more worthy of the gratitude of his State, or more deserving of universal esteem than Gen. Conner. He is an efficient, kind and just commander, a thorough soldier and disciplinarian, and a courteous affable gentleman.

The volunteers in his command, one and all, will feel proud of this testimonial, from the citizens of Stockton, Cal. to their commanding General.

Although some hard labor is to be performed upon the projective Overland Route, yet it is accomplished with that vigor and cheerful dicipline which has ever been proverbial with the volunteers of Gen. Connor's command in this Dislings N. V. Ontart Bred

The men are passing through a delight ful country, catching lots of nice trout and making their march as agreeable and pleasant as they could wish. We hear the same creditable reports from our volunteers that have always been awarded them wherever they have been stationed. They are a credit to the service and an lionar to the Golden State in which the 3rd Infantry was organiz-

Goon Advice .- An exchange gives the following, which is sound: "Never patronize a business (?) man who don't advertise. You can be sure that he is close, stingy, and lacks sufficient energy to take advantage of the market and buy cheap. In fact, it is a safe rule to set down that you will have to bay twenty per. cent more for goods to a merchant of Atchisen, has been indicted in Den- who don't advertise, than to one who
